

ORCHARDS THRIVE IN THIS COUNTY

Paul Browne Demonstrates What Can Be Done Here In Fruit Raising

Paul Browne is demonstrating orcharding in upper Wisconsin. In an article in the Chicago Record Herald, after discussing his experience in the west, Mr. Browne says:

"This is merely preliminary to what I want to say regarding my experiments in this northern section of Wisconsin. In the spring of 1910 I planted about 300 apple trees mostly Dutchess and Wealthy. I have lost but three trees from that planting.

"The next year I planted 400 more trees, mostly Wealthy, with a few Dudley or North Star and Winter Fameuse and crab apple trees. In 1912 I planted more crab apples, and McIntosh Reds, as the latter variety does well in this section. I am grafting over a good many crab trees to Dudley and find that variety and the Wealthy are about the best adapted to this section of any variety.

"The trees planted in 1910 are bearing quite a good many apples. In fact more than I care to have them, and I have thinned them several times this season. Most orchard growers make the mistake of letting their trees bear too large crops. Better raise fewer to the tree and get a better quality. Spraying is something that has been sadly neglected in the East, especially in Wisconsin. Without thorough spraying there is no such thing as raising good fruit.

"I would advise those intending to plant an orchard to get yearling trees as low headed as possible and then practice clean cultivation. This will keep the pests down to a large extent. Then if systematic spraying is carried on most excellent apples can be raised.

"Grapes can also be grown here very successfully. If varieties such as Brighton, Early Campbell and Early Moore are planted and the rows run north and south, so the sun can strike both sides, even in our short and cool summers, they are a sure crop.

"As far as small fruits are concerned, this section is really the home of the raspberry, blackberry, strawberry and all small fruits."

LOOK OUT FOR THE LION

He will appear at the Grand Opera House, Sunday Oct. 26, when the Wizard of Wiseland holds the stage. This is the newest thing in the musical comedy extravaganza line, and it is great. The music is great. The comedians are great and the fun is greatest, the jokes are new and rich and the singing is as good as you have ever heard; scenery O. K., and beautiful. Dialogues and lyric all right, and the story, it has a story, an absorbing interesting story well worked out, through it, it is as fanciful as a grim fairy tale, if you want to have two and a half hours of solid enjoyment, don't miss The Wizard of Wiseland.

"PINK LADY" FIRST CLASS

Rhineland theater goes were afforded the opportunity Friday evening of witnessing an attraction of unusual merit "The Pink Lady", a musical comedy which numbered over forty people. The production was elaborate in every detail consisting of talented people, a big chorus, costly costumes and beautiful scenery.

NEXT NUMBER NOV. 8

November 8th is the date of the next number of the Wesleyan concert course. This will be the Colonial program and will be given at the Grand Opera House.

The Wesleyans feel grateful to Mr. Zander for his kindness in permitting them the use of the Majestic for the last number.

The German Lutheran ladies' aid meets next Thursday, October 30, with Mrs. Zehms on the south side, 609 Arbutus

WILL START AT SPOONER

Potato Special Will Visit Twelve Wisconsin Counties

Starting at Spooner in Washburn county and ending at Three Lakes in Oneida county, a special potato train will be operated over the Omaha and Northwestern lines in 12 upper Wisconsin counties between October 24 and November 11. Officials of these two railroads will cooperate with the officers of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association in this campaign to encourage the raising of more and better potatoes. It is generally agreed that the potato growers of Wisconsin are in position to grow large yields of the potatoes of the very best quality. Experts of the U. S. department of agriculture who have recently visited the potato districts of this state pronounced the conditions equal to any to be found for the production of select seed and the best market stock. Their only criticism is the apparent lack of care in keeping the varieties unmixed. The seed and market demands are for potatoes true to type and of but a very few standard commercial varieties. Where several varieties are grown by a farmer, the danger of mixing is always present.

Farmers in a locality are being urged to specialize upon one or two varieties, to keep the seed stock pure, and to so handle the growing crop as to prevent, if possible, any and all attacks by disease.

EAGLE RIVER IS EASY FOR LOCALS

Rhinelanders Highs Win Saturday Foot Ball Game By 69 to 0

An easy victory was scored by the Rhineland high school football team Saturday in this city when they snatched the laurels from the Eagle River squad by the 69 to 0 route. It had been anticipated that the match would be of a more even nature but the locals simply had walk away with the visitors.

The team from the Vilas county metropolis demonstrated clearly that their knowledge of the game was exceedingly limited. Although they struggled bravely to make a winning play their efforts were to no avail. At every stage of the conflict the Rhinelanders proved themselves the masters. The visitors were unable to get by with anything.

While the attendance at the game was not as large as it should have been there was a fair size crowd of rooters present, mostly high school pupils.

The Eagle River team made the trip to this city by team and autos. They were a quiet, gentlemanly lot of boys and made many friends while here.

Next Saturday Rhinelanders will clash with the Antigo highs in this city. A good fast game is expected.

"JIM" DUTCH IN TOWN

James Dutch of Minneapolis is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Schellenger. "Jim" as he is popularly known was for many years engineer on 800 line passenger trains 84 and 85. Last December he was critically ill and all hope for his recovery was abandoned but he managed to fool the doctors and is rapidly regaining his former health. "Jim" will soon be pulling the throttle again.

HERE ON WEDDING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nicholson here as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Gust Johnson of Reno, Pa., who are here on their wedding trip. They were married in Reno Wednesday October 15. The bride was formerly Miss Emma Benson of that city. Mr. Nicholson holds a responsible position in a Reno locomotive works. The couple will remain at the Nicholson residence until Sunday night.

FORESTRY LAND PROBE UNDERWAY

Legislature Committee Starts Work Near Minocqua On Monday

The Wisconsin legislative forestry committee, created by the last legislature to investigate the character of the lands in the state forest reserve and determine whether any of them are better adapted to agricultural purposes than to forest reserve purposes and report to the next legislature, began its work at Minocqua, Monday. The committee expects to spend the next three weeks in personally examining the forest reserve land in Oneida and Vilas counties. It does not expect to finish the examination this fall but will do as much as it can and will resume it next spring. During the winter months it will hold a number of hearings at different villages and cities in or near the reserve and take testimony of residents of the territory regarding the character of the lands under investigation.

The investigation committee was appointed by the presiding officers of the two houses of the legislature in accordance with chapter 670, laws of 1913. The committee consists of Senators A. Pearce Tompkins of Ashland, H. A. Huber of Stoughton and W. L. Richards of Milwaukee, Assemblymen Axel Johnson of Turtle Lake, R. J. Nye of Superior, H. M. Laursen of Shell Lake, C. F. Roessler of Jefferson and E. J. Kneen of Bangor. Senator Tompkins is chairman and Assemblyman Johnson secretary of the committee. The committee has a clerk and a secretary, the former being Capt. C. H. Rawlinson of La Crosse and the latter A. V. Gruhn of Racine.

The committee will establish its headquarters at the main camp of the state forestry commission at Trout Lake, fifteen miles north of Minocqua, where it will have a comfortable cottage equipped with all necessary conveniences for living in the woods. It has engaged three private guides. After examining the land in the vicinity of Turtle Lake the committee will go to Star Line and later to other central points from which to work.

The law creating the committee prescribes its duties in the following language: "Fully investigate and report to the next regular session of the legislature what areas of land now held as forest reserve and those parts proposed to be included within such reserve within the counties of Forest, Iron, Oneida, Price and Vilas are better adapted to agricultural purposes than to forestry purposes and whether the best interests of all persons concerned and especially the taxpayers of the state will not be better promoted by devoting said lands to other than reforestation purposes."

The law also provides that "no further purchases of lands shall be made for the state forest reserve until the committee shall have investigated or reported nor until July 1, 1915."

ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT

Ignatz Bodka, arrested at Hobson Tuesday by the sheriff on the charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm was arraigned before Judge D. H. Walker and his hearing adjourned until Friday. The complaint against Bodka was made by John Besteger.

COMPLETE REVISION TRACK

Roadmaster P. H. Flalley of the Soo line states that the Soo's new revision track from Heafford Junction to Manson, a distance of four miles, has been completed since September 29. According to Mr. Flalley, who had supervision of the work, this is one of the finest pieces of track in northern Wisconsin. It is laid with all open heart eighty pound steel, tie plates and No. 1 tamarack ties.

CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gustafson Entertain Many Friends Sunday

Sunday marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gustafson who reside near Lake Thompson. In celebration of the happy event over one hundred friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson assembled at their home where the day was spent in a most enjoyable manner. One of the features of the affair was a bountiful dinner. As evidence of the high regard in which Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson are held many valuable gifts were presented to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson have for many years been residents of the county and are respected by all who know them. Their silver anniversary will long be pleasantly remembered both by the esteemed couple and those who shared their hospitality.

WOMAN'S CLUBS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Local Club Has Delegation At State Convention In Sheboygan

Mrs. W. E. Brown and Mrs. C. P. Crosby are in Sheboygan as representatives from the Rhineland Woman's Club at the seventeenth annual convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs.

The convention opened Wednesday with three hundred and fifty delegates present. Mrs. J. A. Strathern of Kaukauna, president of the state federation, called the meeting to order.

Matters to be discussed by the convention include: Amending the by laws to allow the admission of mixed clubs; plans for the extension of the loan fund department; the appointment of committees for the study of political economy in line with the suggestions of the general federation.

The convention is expected to take steps to endorse the work of the world's purity federation. Efforts will be made to eliminate any discussion relative to woman's suffrage inasmuch as this is an off year in Wisconsin for election.

A full report of the convention will be read at the next meeting of the Rhineland Woman's Club.

BOWLING NOTES

Alex Sherman, commonly known as "Lucky Ike" owing to his ability to get a strike whenever he hits the king pin, is piling up his usual number of double century scores among them being 200-211-222.

"Happy" Shier discovered a new groove in alley No. 1 Saturday night, hitting the timber for 201. "Happy" is some proud of that score and insisted that his name be put on the blackboard of fame at once.

The "Night Hawks" team has organized and are anxious for a game with any five men team of the city.

The money winners for the month of October will be reported next week.

OLD FASHIONED DINNER

Mrs. A. B. Donaldson entertained a few ladies last Thursday at the first link in the chain that is to gather the amount placed by the Woman's Club for the Carnegie Public Library fund.

Mrs. Donaldson gave an old fashioned five o'clock dinner, using silver, glasses and dishes from twenty-eight to one hundred twenty years old. It was a very pleasant occasion.

MATCH CAUSES FIRE

A lighted match head flying into a wastepaper basket nearly caused a costly fire at the residence of J. J. Remo on Dahl street Monday. One room was badly smoked up before the daughters of Mr. Remo extinguished the blaze with a pillow. Loss $20.

AUTUMN WEDDINGS IN RHINELANDER

Bishop-Caldwell Ceremony On Monday Evening—Larson- Anderson Nuptials

A pretty autumn wedding took place at eight o'clock Monday evening at St. Augustine's church when the marriage of Miss Lucille Althe Bishop, daughter of Mrs. Edith Bishop, and Robert Lee Caldwell son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Caldwell was solemnized.

The church was elaborately decorated with autumn leaves, wild flowers, ground pine and potted plants. Mrs. Jessie Hampton presided at the organ. Fr. J. M. Johnson officiated at the ceremony, the beautiful ring service being used. The bride was given away by her uncle A. Stewright. Miss Belle Pepper of Duluth was bridesmaid and James Caldwell, brother of the groom, best man. Little Elizabeth Kretlow was flower girl. Ushers were Winfield Blackburn of Milwaukee and Harvey Newell of this city.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white satin trimmed with silk shadow lace. She carried a shower bouquet of swansonia and white roses. Miss Pepper wore yellow crepe de meteor and carried yellow roses.

Following the ceremony at the church a reception was given for Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell by Mr. and Mrs. A. Stewright at their residence 233 Dahl street. The young couple departed on the Northwestern limited Monday night for Chicago. On their return they will reside in the Bishop home, 103 S. Pelham St.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackburn and Master Allen of Milwaukee, Miss Ada L. Bishop of Athens, Ala., and Mrs. S. G. Nelson of Waukegan.

The bride is one of Rhineland's popular and esteemed young ladies. She grew to womanhood in this city attending school here and later completing her education at Milwaukee Downer and Stout Training School at Menomonie. For one year she was teacher at Athens, Ala. She is talented and possesses the many good qualifications which combine to make a loving wife.

Mr. Caldwell is an exemplary young man and respected by all who know him. He is endowed with keen business ability and for some time past has held the position of office manager with the Robbers Lumber company in this city. He has before him a bright future in the business world.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell's many friends congratulate them and wish them happiness.

Larson-Anderson

Miss Louise Larson and Sam Anderson, two well known young people of this city, put one over on their friends Wednesday forenoon when they were quietly joined in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John De Jung, of the German Lutheran church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnson, 3 N. Stevens street. Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Mode were the attendants. The wedding was followed by a luncheon after which the happy couple left for Mr. Anderson's cottage up the Wisconsin river where they are enjoying their honeymoon.

For several years the bride has held a position at the Peoples Savings Store where by her genial disposition and courteous manner she has acquired hosts of friends. She is blessed with plenty of good common sense and is well thought of by everyone.

Mr. Anderson is one of Rhineland's leading young business men and has worked up a large patronage in the manufacture of choice cigars. All who claim his acquaintance speak most complimentary of him.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will commence house-keeping at 11 N. Stevens street. Congratulations are in order.

HURT IN CAVE-IN

John Peterson Meets With Bad Accident Tuesday

John Peterson, a well known resident of the north side, lies in a serious condition at his home 704 Mason street, from injuries sustained when a gas pipe trench in which he was at work caved in Tuesday morning. Mr. Peterson, who was employed by the Oneida Gas company, was working in the pit on Mason St., when the sides fell in. He was about five feet down and the top crust of earth caught his across the hips.

While an examination of Mr. Peterson's injuries revealed no broken bones he may be hurt internally.

COMPANY L IS ON HONOR LIST

Rhineland Organization Gets High Recognition In Competition

During the inspection of Company L of this city for the last year the company for the first time in its history has been placed on the honor list among the National Guard companies of the state. There are forty-two companies and organizations in the Wisconsin National Guard and those companies that receive credit marks to place them as the first twelve companies are called the honor companies.

The local organization through its officers has received letters of congratulation from the headquarters of Second Regiment. The Second secured eight positions out of the twelve honor positions which is a remarkable showing considering the fact that there were forty-two organizations in this competition.

The citizens of Rhineland should feel proud of having a militia company of this high standing and everything should be done to encourage the officers and men in their work.

In the near future there will be quite a number of men whose terms of enlistment will be ended and it is desired that about fifteen new recruits be secured for the company. All male citizens between the ages of 18 and 45 years, showing the proper physical, mental and moral qualifications are receivable as members.

WILL HOLD BAZAAR

St. Mary's congregation is arranging for a big bazaar to be given at the Armory on November 24, 25 and 26. One of the chief events of the fair will be a contest for a diamond ring between two young ladies of the congregation. A miniature range will be disposed of and many useful and costly prizes have been donated by business men of the city. The bazaar is attracting great interest among the people of Rhineland and that the patronage will be liberal there is no question.

KILLING STOCK

Alvin Sutton, who is in the employ of Roden & Carling, is busy this week butchering live stock for the market. His first task is slaughtering and dressing a large number of hogs at different farms throughout the county. Although young in years Alvin has had no little experience in the butcher line and can kill and dress an animal as rapidly as the older hands.

COLD OCTOBER WEATHER

The temperature took a decided drop this week causing the coldest October weather since 1896. In the year 1871 there was also a cold spell in October which continued for a number of days.

MARRIED

On Tuesday evening Rev. B. G. Clemens performed the ceremony which united in matrimony Miss Alma Hartman and Roy McKean. They were attended by Mrs. Sadie Ames and Leon Nichols. Rhinelanders will be their home. Both are well and favorably known here.

EVENTS OF WEEK IN OTHER TOWNS

Items Of More Or Less Importance Boiled Down From Neighboring Exchanges

Grand Rapids—

Erer Worlund, aged 19, was so badly injured in the Port Edwards paper mill where he was employed that there is little hope for his recovery. His hand was caught between the driver and a roll of paper and his entire body was drawn between them.

Marshallfield—

Seeking to reduce the high cost of living, 160 farmers near Greenwood have banded and will open a co-operative store through which they will purchase their supplies and ship all produce and dairy products. They will ship direct to the consumer and thus cut out the profits of middlemen and commissions. Live stock will be shipped the same way, a department having been created to look after this branch of the business alone.

Phillips—

Kennan is to have a pickling station next spring. The D. J. Wittig company has made arrangements to start up at that place and already a number of farmers are contemplating to supply the plant. The company wants 150 acres pledged for the coming season.

Eagle River—

Plum Lake in this county has as a natural golf course as can be found anywhere. This course is owned by the Plum Lake Golf Club and on the grounds is a large club house. While the present course embraces forty acres and is adequate for a nine hole course, it is the intention of the club to add forty acres more. A crew is now getting the additional grounds in shape for the next season's use.

Ironwood—

Under the assumption that a small portion is better than nothing, the many creditors of the late Bank of Ironwood, or, to be more correct, the estate of Fritz Karste, will welcome the announcement that is made by Administrator William Baird, this week that the first dividend will be paid the creditors of the institution on Wednesday, October 22, and thereafter until all are paid. While the dividend to be paid is only ten per cent, it is far better than nothing.

Park Falls—

Obstacles encountered in the construction of the extension of the Omaha Railway from Kaiser to this city have delayed the work to such an extent that the contractors have decided to put on a night shift in order to complete the work on schedule time. In order to operate the two shifts it was at first decided to use electric light the entire stretch of road from Kaiser to this city but the expense connected with this undertaking proved so great that it was later decided to use some cheaper system of lighting, and preparations are being made to commence work with the double shift within the next few days.

Washburn—

The new triton plant at the power works of E. I. DuPont company at Barksdale is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready by the latter part of this month or the early part of next month. This new line at the Barksdale works will be used for the manufacture of a new kind of dynamite and when it is running it will mean that an additional number of men will be employed at the works. Construction work has been carried on during the summer months but on account of the scarcity of labor the plant has not been completed as rapidly as was expected.

A MARVELOUS ESCAPE

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by All Dealers.

IRON RIVER HAS 4,000

Douglas Anderson, who is getting out the Iron River, Crystal Falls and Iron County directory, completed the census of the Iron River district, and the numbering of the houses in Iron River this week and ordered the new street signs to be placed at all street corners here. Mr. Anderson's figures show a population of 4,088 for the village of Iron River, as compared with 2,450 in 1910, when the government census was taken. Mr. Anderson also found a population of between 9,500 and 10,000 in Iron River, Stambaugh Palatka and the numerous locations in this vicinity. He completed the census at Crystal Falls some time ago, and found that the population of Crystal Falls, and the locations surrounding it, totaled 4,420.—Reporter.

A DONATION

We will sell to the first person who comes to us with $1,500, the large dwelling house on the corner of Margaret and Prospect streets, one block east of the South Park school. The house is in first-class condition, cellar, water, hardwood floors throughout, wired for electricity.

This building can not be duplicated for $1,500.00 and whoever buys it is going to get a $500.00 lot for nothing. Landed Him. "In all my life," she said, with a sigh, "I have seen only one man that I would care to marry." "Did he look like me?" he carelessly asked. Then she flung herself into his arms, and wanted to know what secret power men possess that enables them to tell when they are loved.

Receptivity. O believe, as thou livest, that every sound that is spoken over the round world, which thou oughtest to hear, will vibrate on thine ear! Every proverb, every book, every byword that belongs to thee for aid or comfort, shall surely come home through open or winding passages.

Matter of Size. A Chicago lecturer declares that a girl with "a pink aura" makes the best wife, but that wise young men will avoid the charmer with a green one. Not a long-green aura, however.

Works Both Ways. "De man dat don't trust anybody," said Uncle Eben, "is mighty liable to figure out moral responsibilities in a way dat'll prevent anybody from trustin' him."

Word of Popular Origin. Gob is an old English word, meaning a lump or chunk of something, and was sometimes applied to money in a slangy sense; a gob of money, as we now sometimes hear a wad of money. Gob is of uncertain origin, but the word gobbler, as to gobble one's food, or to eat by chunks, evidently has the same root. Shakespeare speaks of cutting something into gobbets, meaning small pieces.

A UNIQUE CLASS

Twenty-Seven Barbers in One Sunday School.

They Belong to a Class in the First Methodist Episcopal Church South of Corinth, Miss., in Which Are Enrolled 500 Men.

The greatest movement among men in the last decade has been the Organized Adult Bible Class movement. More men are today enrolled in these classes than are connected with any other organization or order on the continent.

A study of plans for promoting and conducting this work will be one of the leading features of the State Sunday School Convention to be held at Sheboygan, Nov. 11-13.

Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick, Corinth, Miss., Teacher of an Organized Adult Bible Class of 500 Men.

Among the specialists in this department will be Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick, teacher of the famous Men's Class of the Methodist Church at Corinth, Miss. This class enrolls 500 men. There are twenty-seven barbers in it. It was the banner of this class that took first prize at the World's Convention at Washington in 1910.

Besides Miss Kilpatrick, the convention will have Mr. W. C. Pearce of Chicago, Adult Department Superintendent of the International Sunday School Association, a man of splendid ability and wide experience, who gave up splendid prospects in the practice of law to enter the Sunday School field, where he has been eminently successful.

Mr. W. C. Pearce, Chicago, Ill., Associate General Secretary of the International Sunday School Association.

Every Adult Bible Class in the state should have at least one delegate to the convention. Registration blanks may be obtained from the office of the Wisconsin Sunday School Association, Neenah, Wis., also detailed information as to program and entertainment.

Another unique feature of the convention will be the German Session, which will be held Tuesday, Nov. 11, opening at 10 a. m. German speaking Sunday School workers of every denomination will be cordially welcomed.

Rev. F. T. Enderis, D. D., of Cincinnati, will be one of the principal speakers.

The German Session was a marked success at Oshkosh last year, and a larger attendance is expected at Sheboygan.

A chorus choir of 100 voices, and the Conference Quartet will lead the singing at the great mass meetings in the Opera House.

The task of providing meals has been undertaken by the Jung company, who will serve dinner and supper, the delegates of the convention being entertained upon the Harvard plan, entertainment for lodging and breakfast being furnished in the hospitable homes of the city.

The convention will be open to all Sunday School workers, whether officially elected by their Sunday Schools or not.

Details of the program may be obtained by writing the Association at the address given above.

ANSWERING HIS LETTER

By ANNA PHILPOT.

"Well," indignantly exclaimed the girl to herself, after she had glanced at the date of the letter that the postman had just left. "Two weeks!" She flung her head high, and looked into the mirror to get the effect. "I'll show him that I can keep him waiting, too!" She unfolded the letter and read it. Then she reread it.

"Not an apology in it, either! I ought just to write and tell him a thing or two—but he'll wait at least three weeks before he gets a word from me! Let him see how he likes it!" She was extremely indignant.

Going to her desk, she flung the letter disdainfully upon it and closed the lid. Then she opened the desk again and took up the letter.

"I wonder," she pondered, "whether I ought to wait three weeks. I don't believe it would be well to wait more than just as long as he waited. That will be a broad hint to him. But I'm not going to be satisfied with hints! I'm going to tell him good and plain that if my letters aren't of sufficient interest to be worth an answer before I've forgotten everything I wrote to him I'll just direct them to people by whom they will be more appreciated."

"I'll write him this very minute and set forth matters clearly to that young man while everything's fresh in my mind. Then I can leave the letter undated and send it later, whenever I decide will be best."

Snatching the action to the word, she proceeded hastily to scribble off a letter.

"I'd better not begin to scold him at first," she decided. "I'll just answer his letter. I'll write as though I had nothing to say especially, and when I get nearly to the end I'll tell him a few things that he ought to know!"

She wrote on, happily smiling to herself, through a number of pages.

"Goodness!" she reflected. "What's the use of stirring up trouble? I think I'd just better let it drop and act as though I hadn't noticed how long a time had elapsed since he got my letter. It's far better that way. Really, it is foolish for a girl to let a man think she's eagerly waiting and watching for his letters."

"Then, too, I suppose he's awfully busy. They say that successful young business men usually can't get on with girls at all, but their time is almost never their own. And then his poor arms must get so tired writing his memoranda and getting out his reports that he ought to be praised for writing at all. Poor boy! It's mean of me to be resentful. I suppose he does his best. And it must be fearfully lonely for him out there and I suppose he just waits and waits for my letters."

"Let's see. He did say that he walked to the postoffice every night for the mail. Think how disappointing it must be to find nothing from me, day after day. He might cease going for the mail altogether if he thought no one would write. Goodness! What if I waited three weeks and then he didn't think it worth while to go for his mail any more and he'd never get my letter? And I'd sit here thinking he just wouldn't answer. That's the way most trouble starts. I'm not going to let it start that way for us, if I can help it!"

"I've made this letter just as formal and unconcerned as I possibly could," she said. Then she glanced through her letter. "Oh, I think it sounds awfully cold, considering the fact that we're engaged! I'll just add a postscript and try to make him see how much I care for him."

She scribbled away until the postscript was five pages longer than the letter. Then she looked at her watch.

"Goodness! I suppose the poor boy is counting the hours to see when a letter can get back to him. And he's so busy that the days just fly. I'm sure he didn't mean to wait so long before writing."

"Oh, what's the use? I'll just put on my coat and run to the mail box to catch the next mail with this letter. Poor, lonesome boy!"—Chicago Daily News.

According to instructions.

Bobbie—I heard you got a letter from your brother?

Joey—Indeed, I did.

Bobbie—Was there anything important in the letter?

Joey—Well, I didn't open it, for on the outside of the envelope was printed: "Please return in five days," so I sent it back to him.

FLASHES FROM THE HEADLIGHT

Bits of News Pertaining To The Soo and Northwestern Railroads

The gross earnings of the Chicago division of the Soo line for the last year were $10,893,000, the net $3,685,000. The gross earnings increased $1,315,000 over the previous year and the net $743,000.

The report of the Soo line, a part of the Soo system, shows that the gross earnings of that division last year amounted in round numbers to $21,000,000, an increase of $6,000,000. The net earnings increased from $7,600,000 to $9,900,000.

The gross earnings of the entire system amounted to $32,000,000, net earnings being $13,000,000. The system this year handled 1,000,000 tons of iron ore. Next year's run is expected to reach the 3,000,000 ton mark. The Soo line is completing 100 miles of track in North Dakota but this will finish the track laying for some time. The company's new terminal in Chicago will be ready Jan. 1. A share in the Chicago Belt line has been purchased. During the past year the company purchased twenty-five locomotives, forty-nine steel passenger cars and 2,200 freight cars costing in all $3,866,000.

The telephone system of dispatching trains, which has been in use between this city and Minneapolis since early in the year, has proved its efficiency to such an extent that within a few months it will replace the telegraph at all stations between Chicago and the Twin Cities.

The wiring between Fond du Lac and Chicago is practically completed but it has been impossible to secure the office equipment, owing to the fact that the factories are unable to supply the demands of the many railway companies that are installing the new systems. It is probable that the necessary material will be received within a few weeks but this will not be installed until spring when the cost of the work will be much less than during the winter months.

The Soo line has ordered ten new locomotives, six freight and four passenger, for use on the Chicago division. Fifty-five steel cars for the passenger service will also be installed on the Chicago division soon. Traffic on the Soo line is increasing at a rapid rate and more equipment is needed badly.

Old Lady Some Pedestrian. In 1851 an old Cornish fishwife of eighty-four, named Mary Callinack, walked from Penzance to London to see the great exhibition in Hyde park. The distance is nearly 300 miles. The old lady created a sensation and was noticed by Queen Victoria. She had vowed to call on the lord mayor before returning, and she carried out her intention, but, of course, was not permitted to walk back.

DAIRY WISDOM.

Milk bottles should have a sun bath every day, but they should be protected from dust at the same time.

Dairy farming is more carefully studied today than ever before, and it pays well for this.

No preservative is needed for milk that is properly produced and correctly handled.

Lack of proper feed is often as responsible for small milk yields as the poor cow.

The dairy farm is a highly developed business establishment and should be so operated.

Net profits, not gross returns, are what determine success or failure.

The most economical method of supplying feed to overcome the shortage in pasture during the hot, dry period is the summer silo.

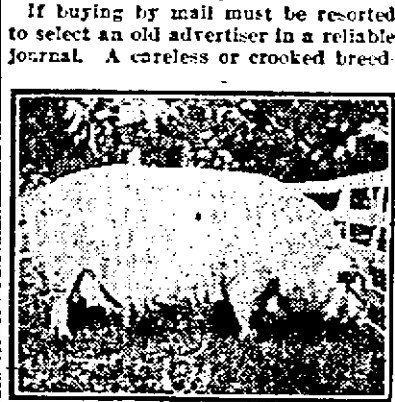

BUYING A NEW BOAR.

Things to Consider When Selecting a Head for the Herd. Buying a boar is a problem that confronts every raiser of market hogs from time to time, and where there is no breeder of pure bred swine of the kind wanted in the immediate community it is not easy to secure satisfaction, writes a correspondent of the National Stockman.

In the first place it should be remembered that a cheap hog is generally a poor hog, and a poor hog is expensive in the end. Whether to buy a pig and wait for him to develop or to buy a young boar ready for service must be decided. The pig is much cheaper, naturally, but considerable risk is taken because nobody can tell for sure what kind of a hog he will make. If he comes from first class stock in every respect and has the marks of a good one not so much chance is taken as if he were from mediocre stock. A little coarseness in a fast growing pig is not objectionable. Rather it is an advantage, as he will largely outgrow it. It is rather easy to tell what kind of a hog an eight month pig will grow into, but he will cost considerably more than a weanling.

If buying by mail must be resorted to select an old advertiser in a reliable journal. A careless or crooked breeder

Admirers of the Chester White value claim that this breed produces the largest litters and raises the greatest per cent of the pigs fattowed, proving them great mothers and the most prolific breed. The Chesters of today are different from twenty years ago. Type and conditions have been bred to meet the advanced environments. They may blister some in certain local places, but it is largely due to the man who cares for them and is not a weak point of the breed, as the Chesters of today have a coat of hair bred on them longer, heavier and thicker than those of forty or fifty years ago. The Chester White sow shown was a prize winner last year.

Spray Pump "Dipping." We have found a new way of applying sheep dip. Up to two years ago we have used a dipping tank, and I had made a concrete tank and drainage floors, writes an Ohio sheep raiser in the Rural New Yorker. We always had some ticks left over at shearing time. Later, however, we tried using the spray pump. We used the hand pump, an eight foot extension rod and an adjustable nozzle and rather a coarse spray. One needs a nozzle easily cleaned, as there is a tendency to clog.

We put sheep in a room in the barn 20 by 20, and they moved around as spray was applied till all were covered. We used soon after the sheep were shorn and used dip somewhat stronger than directions call for. We sprayed 200 sheep in less than one-quarter the time it takes to dip. We used twice, about a week apart, and this season when sheep were shorn not a single tick was found.

The Essex Pig.

The Essex pig is a small black English pig, smaller than the Poland-Chinas and little known in this country. It is an early maturing pig, not popular with the general farmer in England, but is more of a cottager's pig.

The rural teachers are getting into the agricultural work in Oneida county. Florence Dahlstrand alternates weekly her physiology and agricultural classes. She teaches in the town of Pine Lake. This district has purchased a six-bottle enclosed Babcock tester for use in the schools. Some of the boys of Miss Dahlstrand's school will secure 50 pure bred Green Mountain seed potatoes from the agricultural representative and will enter a potato-growing contest "to see who can grow the most potatoes from 250 hills."

Myrtle McLaughlin in the McLaughlin district in Crescent is also doing some good work in agriculture. Miss McLaughlin secured a Babcock tester for this school last year with funds raised from a social at her school house. Now her school is making itself useful to the people of the district by testing cows. That is the way.

While the agricultural representative was in Madison last week he found sale for pure bred Rural New Yorker seed potatoes. Quite a number of farmers in Oneida county can furnish pure bred seed potatoes. If farmers will send in their names and the number of bushels of pure bred seed potatoes they can spare, the agricultural representative will try to sell the seed. Seed potatoes bring a better price than market potatoes.

The other day a man wrote that he wanted to come to Oneida county to do simply general purpose farming. He wanted to use general purpose farm animals. Now this may be all right. But farmers in Oneida county will do much better to go into pure bred dairy cattle of high producing type, pure bred seeds and so produce extra fine stuff for market. Too long farmers have raised common weedy seeds and sold them for what they can get for them. Too long they have planted inferior potato seed and taken whatever any one might offer them for what they grew. Too long farmers have kept dung hill stock on their farms. Already in Oneida county there are farmers to whom farmers in other sections are coming long distances for pure bred seed. And so it is again exemplified that if a farmer away off in some little corner of the universe has an article of merit, men from other sections of the universe will find it out and come to the obscure man's door to get the good article. So it is Farmers in Oneida county can find ready markets for thousands of bushels of pure bred corn, potatoes, oats, clover and so on. Let us not go into the "general purpose stuff." Let farmers in Oneida county produce exceptionally fine stuff and get an especially fine price.

It is good these days to see the activity of the real estate men. Most any time of day one can see some one of them hustling here and there. And most every day some outsider drops into town to look for land. About every mail brings inquiries about land. Next summer will witness a good growth in population in Oneida county.

There is very little reason why seed oats should be imported into this county for next season. Local seed that is acclimated would be much better if the farmers would only take good care to use the fanning mill thoroughly upon the seed. This is true of any kind of grain grown in Oneida county. Seed grain should be pure and only the large, heavy kernels should be sown. Oats in this county often weigh forty pounds to the bushel. This is the kind to sow. We have in this county the Oneida County Order of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Association which was organized at the time of the Farmers' Course last spring to encourage the growing of pure and pedigree seeds. In a short time the secretary will try to issue a little circular with the list of members and the seeds that they have to sell. Any farmer who has good, pure, or pedigree seeds can become a member by paying the fee of fifty cents. It will be worth while to join this order. It will be vastly better for farmers to buy their seeds of local farmers if they can secure good, pure stuff. Farmers belonging to the Oneida Order will be able to sell their seeds.

The Spendthrift

"Riches gather many friends; but if a man be poor all his days are miserable."—Solomon.

Misfortune seems always to follow the man who spends his money. "If a man looks sharply and attentively," says Bacon, "he shall see Fortune, for though she is blind; she is not invisible."

But the spendthrift never sees Fortune because he does not look far enough ahead. He lives only for the present and his money is spent for things which bring no permanent good. The cause of his misfortune is wholly within himself; he lacks persistence and determination.

We recommend a Savings Account as the best means of overcoming the spending habit.

The secret of success is in saving. A savings account is a wonderful help to a man's ambition. It stimulates his courage and lightens his cares. Begin an account with us today and ask about some of our new plans for saving.

COD LIVER OIL AND IRON

Two Most World-Famed Tonics Combined in Vinol.

Cod Liver oil and Iron have proved to be the two most successful tonics the world has ever known—iron for the blood and the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil as a strength and tissue builder for body and nerves, and for the successful treatment of throat and lung troubles.

Two eminent French chemists discovered a method of separating the curative medicinal elements of the cod's livers from the oil or grease which is thrown away, but to these medicinal elements tonic iron is now added, thus combining in Vinol the two most world famed tonics.

As a body-builder and strength creator for weak, run-down people, for feeble old people, delicate children, to restore strength after sickness; and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis or pulmonary troubles we ask you to try Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

P. S. For pimples and blotches try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

When social conditions reach the point where every man is willing to pay his just share of the taxes, the millennium will be reached. In all ages, a certain class has sought to throw the burden of taxation on those who can least afford to pay and always will.

The greatest boost that any newspaper can give its local community is to stand squarely for the rights of all. All men have to live consequently they should be dealt with fairly. The quicker we all wake up to the fact of interdependence of labor and capital and the just treatment of both, the quicker the community will be harmonious and thrive.

A Helena, Ark., woman gave $1.25 to a man who rescued her husband from drowning. She had $45 in her pocketbook, but just because you have money is no reason why you should pay more than things are worth.

INCOME TAX DEFENDED
It has become a habit on the part of those who have wealth to object to paying taxes. It is not surprising to hear wails from the districts in which the income tax would produce most revenue. Those who complain seem of the opinion that the cost of running the government should be assessed on a per capita basis, and every one should be called upon to contribute the same amount regardless of ability to pay and benefits received. If the theory upon which the income tax has been drawn is "that wealth is a crime and should be punished," it is a new thing. Then it must be a crime to own real estate and have household goods. We have been taxing the possessors of those things many years.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

GRIFFITH NEEDS WATCHING
In Sunday's Milwaukee Journal is a long editorial warning the summer resort keepers of the forestry reserve region to stand for Griffith's forestry policy to preserve their own business.

The Journal is certainly talking at a distance and knows little of Griffith's real purpose if it thinks that this whole country is better off if left in a vast forestry reserve as a play ground for tourists and sports. There is plenty of good land adapted to agriculture and plenty of land left for forest reserve and no objection would have ever been raised to forestry on non-agricultural lands, had Mr. Griffith not attempted to swallow up Northern Wisconsin for his forestry empire. Once a man deceives the people, he pays dearly for his double dealing. In the light of the past, we must keep on the alert to protect ourselves against the encroachments of Griffith.

PRAIRIE CHICKENS HERE

While I was out at Manson, eleven miles west on the Soo R. R., Saturday, Oct. 14, I saw a large covey of prairie chickens at least 20 in the flock the first I have ever seen. Again at Hobson, Tuesday, Oct. 21, I saw a flock of at least 20 fine large prairie chickens. It would be well for all hunters to be warned not to molest them in any way. We will be assured of fine hunting if all will join in looking after them as they multiply very fast.

John Sorenson and son, Leslie, have bought 1133 acres, 1 1/2 miles west of Rhinelander on the new Cassian road. J. J. Remo sold them the Dr. Willson tract and they are to develop at least 300 acres at once. They have started to build and have teams and men clearing land and expect to have at least 100 acres ready to put into potatoes in the spring. The tract has some fine timber and they expect to either log it themselves or let a job of logging. Leslie is a student in the Wisconsin agricultural department of the university at Madison.

While the greater portion of farmers have their potatoes dug, a few have been caught by the recent storm and will have cold fingers before digging is done. The crop is satisfactory. About as fine a crop as we have seen this fall was upon the farm of Dave Gustavson, who has his new basement full of splendid tubers.
Secretary of the Sunset Knowledge Factory, W. B. Ames, was a city caller Saturday.
Joseph Ledisore has disposed of his Crescent farm to his son, Theo, who will occupy same soon.

FEEDING BABY BEEF.

Corn Silage Scores a Victory at Illinois Experiment Station.

Cattle feeders in Illinois are interested in baby beef production and are actively studying the question of handling young cattle and producing early maturity at the lowest cost, says the Orange Judd Farmer. Three hundred of them met at Urbana July 15 to inspect the seventy-five young cattle which have been on a feeding experiment since December and which are now finished for market.
Various rations were used in the experiment, which was centered around the use of corn silage. Corn silage, supplemented with corn and cottonseed meal, made cheaper gains and produced a better finish on the animals than did a ration of corn and alfalfa. Estimated by J. T. Alexander and W. F. Fletcher of Chicago, there was 30 cents a hundred better value in the finish of the former. However, when alfalfa was added to the ration of corn, cottonseed meal and silage the cattle had a slightly better finish and made more rapid gains, although at some

At the recent Royal Agricultural show at Bristol, England, the Short-horns carried away the highest awards in the beef cattle classes. While the Angus, Galloways and Herefords made a fine showing they were surpassed, according to the judges, by the Short-horns. The accompanying illustration shows the leaders in the parade of the two-year-old Short-horn heifers.

What Greater Cost.

The final profits with this ration, however, were better than with the other.
With another lot which had been receiving corn, cottonseed meal and alfalfa, half the silage was replaced by alfalfa during the last ninety-eight days of the feeding period. This ration produced gains at a higher cost than when some alfalfa was allowed during the whole feeding period, and the finish produced by the two rations was considered to be practically equal. Corn, oats and alfalfa were the most expensive ration and produced a poorer finish than the rations in which silage was used.
A large factor in determining the net profits from the various lots was the value of pork produced by hogs following the cattle. Counting in the profit on the pork, the largest profit on the lot which received corn, cottonseed meal, silage and alfalfa amounted to $12.04 per steer. Without figuring the profit on pork, the net income on the same lot amounted to $2.21. The lot receiving corn, oats and alfalfa produced a slightly greater profit than those receiving corn and alfalfa if the value of the pork was not counted. With this counted in, however, the corn and alfalfa steers made $9.52 per head against $8.13 profit on the corn, oats and alfalfa steers.

Silage For Beef.

According to the Iowa experiment station, silage is practically one-third to two-fifths as valuable as clover hay for beef production. Silage at $3.20 a ton and clover hay at $7.00 a ton were equally efficient in fattening two-year-old steers in 1911-12 in the station tests. Ordinarily when clover is selling from $10 to $15 per ton silage is worth from $3.50 to $4.

Mare and Foal.

Danger these hot days in allowing the young foal to travel long distances. Bad practice also to leave the foal at home and keep the mare four or five hours away from it, because she is apt to work herself into a fever, and sometimes this condition kills when the colt suckles.

LITTLE CINDERELLA

She Was Used as a Foil for a More Fortunate Cousin.

By H. N. EGBERT.
Cinderella was a foil for Beatrice. That, perhaps, was the real reason why Mrs. Lanham, who had never been known to do an unselfish act, surprised her intimates by asking her little orphaned niece, to make her home with her after her brother's death.

Eather and Oliver Benton had grown up together in the same home in Ohio, and Oliver had supported his widowed mother and sister until Esther's brilliant marriage to a wealthy lawyer. The Lanham had gone up in the world and when Mr. Lanham died he was one of the richest corporation lawyers in the country. Esther mourned her husband decently for a year; then she moved to New York and soon became a member of the rich and not very intellectual society that finds its doings recorded daily in the newspapers.

Why Mrs. Lanham should have taken "little Cinderella"—whose real name was Elizabeth—into her home was a mystery until Mrs. Benham-Jenkins solved it.
"Why, my dear, the reason is perfectly obvious," she said to a friend. "It is only necessary to look at the children's faces. Did you ever see a more glaring contrast between beauty and homeliness? Beauty and the Beast, I should call it; and that charity child won't improve with years, either."

Elizabeth heard it and ran away to cry. But she had always known instinctively that the difference between herself and Beatrice was as that between darkness and daylight. Beatrice had an abundance of flaxen hair, merry blue eyes, a contagious laugh, and a figure which gave promise of that quality which is called "svette." Elizabeth was thin and sallow and lanky, and nobody ever stopped to admire her as they did her cousin.

Perhaps this was partly due to the fact that Elizabeth wore Beatrice's cast-off dresses, after the trimmings had been removed and a certain dowdiness imparted by Mrs. Lanham's deft fingers. That excellent woman knew the value of a foil for her daughter.

Elizabeth did not know what to say, so she said nothing.

"You dear little Cinderella," said Lester Martin, and bent down and kissed her.

How she got out of the room Elizabeth did not know, but she was in her room at last, and sobbing as though her heart would break. She cried wildly for hours, until Beatrice came in and found her there.

Beatrice was too much excited to notice Elizabeth's red eyes. She began chattering about Lester.

"Mamma thinks that he is in love with me," she said. "She says he wouldn't come here so much if he wasn't. And it will be such a fine match for me, for his father is worth a cool ten millions, and I shall have carriages and autos and go to Paris each year and—"

"Do you love him, Beatrice?" inquired Elizabeth.

"I don't know. I guess I could," said Beatrice, whirling about. "Mamma says you needn't come down to-night because we are having guests."

She came back presently. "Do you know old Roger Lester is giving a fancy dress ball next month?" she asked. "Yes, the invitations have just come. And, oh, I forgot to say that there is one for you, Mamma has written accepting for me and declining for you."

When she was gone the girl gave way to an access of unrestrained grief. For the first time rebellious thoughts came into her mind. Lester loved her. Else why had he kissed her? No man ever kissed her before. To kiss meant, in her simple view, to plight one's troth for ever. Or had he been playing with her? It was obvious that he meant to marry Beatrice; but then he must have had a passing affection for her. Suddenly an amazing plan took root within her. She would go to the ball. She had never been to a ball, but why should she not go once? It was to be a fancy dress and nobody would recognize her, masked and disguised. There was Beatrice's dress, but that had been altered and Beatrice had had so many dresses that she would never remember that one. And there were Beatrice's slippers.

She trod on air during the next four weeks. She went so happily about her duties that more than once she caught sight of Mrs. Lanham surveying her with amazed disapproval. At last the night of the ball arrived.

"You need not sit up for us," said Mrs. Lanham condescendingly. "We shall probably not be back until late, and you must be up early in the morning to accompany the parlor maid to the station to put her on the train. Poor Mary could never find her way about the streets alone."

Mary, the parlor maid, was going home to pay a visit to her sick mother.

But Elizabeth did not care, for her heart was beating wildly from sheer ecstasy. When the auto rolled away she hurried upstairs and slipped into the ball dress and slippers. Then, with her head and shoulders shrouded in her wrap she went into the street and entered a street car.

Nobody stopped her at the door. Masked, among a hundred other masked women, her presence excited no comment. She recognized Beatrice, in her creation of filmy white, and her aunt, seated among the chaperons and watching her daughter with an expression of admiration in her eyes. But nobody dreamed that Cinderella was there. It was ten o'clock. Two hours—and then she must go home as silently as she had left.

The music intoxicated her. Elizabeth could dance divinely. The little drudge was in heaven as one partner after another took her upon his arm and swung her out among the dancing couples. But when she saw Lester approach and gravely ask her, her head swam and her eyes filled with sudden tears.

"Shall we go into the conservatory?" he asked, when the music stopped. He offered her his arm. At the door of the ballroom they passed Beatrice and her mother. Their eyes rested on her, and with a sudden terror Elizabeth perceived that she was recognized.

Mrs. Lanham rose to her feet with an exclamation of anger, and, overcoming herself with an effort, scowled at her. Elizabeth trembled with fear. She had not calculated upon the aftermath.

"What is the matter?" Lester asked, as they sat down. "You are not feeling well? May I get you a glass of water?"

She shook her head. Lester placed his hand upon hers.

"Do you think I do not know who you are, Cinderella?" he asked, "for all that mask? See if I can guess. You are Miss Benton and you ran away to the dance because Gorgon would not let you go."

"And I can never go home," said Elizabeth in panic. "She recognized me. I had never been to a ball before and I could not bear not to just once. I don't know what I shall do."

"I'll tell you," said Lester. "You need never go home again if you will marry me."

He mistook the look in her eyes.

"O, Cinderella," he cried, stretching out his arms longingly. "I love you with all my soul. It was you I went to see, not Miss Lanham. I know all about your circumstances and your unhappy life. But, Cinderella, I want you for my own, and I know a clergyman over in Jersey who doesn't go to bed till twelve, and if we take a taxi-cab we can just make it. Will you come with me, Cinderella, dear?"

"Yes," sighed Cinderella happily, and that was the second time he kissed her.

HARMFUL FADS IN DAIRY BREEDS.

Color fads have worked a serious hardship to many breeds of improved stock, says the Kansas Farmer. Even dairy breeds have not been exempt from this false idea of the value of color. The Holstein breed at the present time is being afflicted to some extent with some of this color nonsense. There is absolutely no reason whatever why a Holstein in which white predominates should be given preference over one having too much black.

At the present time breeders of purebred Holstein cattle are recognizing the prejudice against animals with large amounts of black and find that it must be reckoned with in dollars and cents. From a production standpoint there is absolutely no foundation for this matter of color preference.

About the only explanation that might be given of the growth of this color preference is that many beginners in the dairy business have such a superficial knowledge of what consti-

The Holstein breed at the present time is being afflicted to some extent with some of this color nonsense. There is absolutely no reason whatever why a Holstein in which white predominates should be given preference over one having too much black.

At the present time breeders of purebred Holstein cattle are recognizing the prejudice against animals with large amounts of black and find that it must be reckoned with in dollars and cents. From a production standpoint there is absolutely no foundation for this matter of color preference.

About the only explanation that might be given of the growth of this color preference is that many beginners in the dairy business have such a superficial knowledge of what consti-

you, Mrs. Benton?" he asked, detailing her.

Elizabeth did not know what to say, so she said nothing.

"You dear little Cinderella," said Lester Martin, and bent down and kissed her.

How she got out of the room Elizabeth did not know, but she was in her room at last, and sobbing as though her heart would break. She cried wildly for hours, until Beatrice came in and found her there.

Beatrice was too much excited to notice Elizabeth's red eyes. She began chattering about Lester.

"Mamma thinks that he is in love with me," she said. "She says he wouldn't come here so much if he wasn't. And it will be such a fine match for me, for his father is worth a cool ten millions, and I shall have carriages and autos and go to Paris each year and—"

"Do you love him, Beatrice?" inquired Elizabeth.

"I don't know. I guess I could," said Beatrice, whirling about. "Mamma says you needn't come down to-night because we are having guests."

She came back presently. "Do you know old Roger Lester is giving a fancy dress ball next month?" she asked. "Yes, the invitations have just come. And, oh, I forgot to say that there is one for you, Mamma has written accepting for me and declining for you."

When she was gone the girl gave way to an access of unrestrained grief. For the first time rebellious thoughts came into her mind. Lester loved her. Else why had he kissed her? No man ever kissed her before. To kiss meant, in her simple view, to plight one's troth for ever. Or had he been playing with her? It was obvious that he meant to marry Beatrice; but then he must have had a passing affection for her. Suddenly an amazing plan took root within her. She would go to the ball. She had never been to a ball, but why should she not go once? It was to be a fancy dress and nobody would recognize her, masked and disguised. There was Beatrice's dress, but that had been altered and Beatrice had had so many dresses that she would never remember that one. And there were Beatrice's slippers.

She trod on air during the next four weeks. She went so happily about her duties that more than once she caught sight of Mrs. Lanham surveying her with amazed disapproval. At last the night of the ball arrived.

"You need not sit up for us," said Mrs. Lanham condescendingly. "We shall probably not be back until late, and you must be up early in the morning to accompany the parlor maid to the station to put her on the train. Poor Mary could never find her way about the streets alone."

Mary, the parlor maid, was going home to pay a visit to her sick mother.

But Elizabeth did not care, for her heart was beating wildly from sheer ecstasy. When the auto rolled away she hurried upstairs and slipped into the ball dress and slippers. Then, with her head and shoulders shrouded in her wrap she went into the street and entered a street car.

Nobody stopped her at the door. Masked, among a hundred other masked women, her presence excited no comment. She recognized Beatrice, in her creation of filmy white, and her aunt, seated among the chaperons and watching her daughter with an expression of admiration in her eyes. But nobody dreamed that Cinderella was there. It was ten o'clock. Two hours—and then she must go home as silently as she had left.

The music intoxicated her. Elizabeth could dance divinely. The little drudge was in heaven as one partner after another took her upon his arm and swung her out among the dancing couples. But when she saw Lester approach and gravely ask her, her head swam and her eyes filled with sudden tears.

"Shall we go into the conservatory?" he asked, when the music stopped. He offered her his arm. At the door of the ballroom they passed Beatrice and her mother. Their eyes rested on her, and with a sudden terror Elizabeth perceived that she was recognized.

Mrs. Lanham rose to her feet with an exclamation of anger, and, overcoming herself with an effort, scowled at her. Elizabeth trembled with fear. She had not calculated upon the aftermath.

"What is the matter?" Lester asked, as they sat down. "You are not feeling well? May I get you a glass of water?"

I TOOK PE-RU-NA

Was Able to Sleep and Eat Again

Mrs. Mueller says: "I keep Peru-na in the house constantly. When I am not feeling well I take a few doses. It always restores."

Mrs. Mueller's story of her experience with Peru-na fully explains why she always keeps Peru-na on hand. A few years ago Mrs. Mueller was very sick. The trouble seemed to be the stomach and liver. She suffered great pain. Was unable to get anything to help her. She was growing weaker and weaker. She became tired of life. Somebody suggested that she write to the Peru-na Co. She did so. Through their advice she began to use Peru-na. In a letter from her at this time she says: "Through the use of Peru-na I have regained my health. I took only a bottle and a half when I was able to sleep and eat again and my nervousness disappeared." No wonder Mrs. Mueller keeps Peru-na in the house. Under similar circumstances Peru-na would be in every house in the land. Any one taking Peru-na ought to have a free copy of the "Hills of Life." Address Peru-na Co., Columbus, Ohio. People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peru-na Tablets.

MEN WHO MAKE THE WORLD

Men who make the world of today are making The Youth's Companion what it is today. It is very much more than The Companion you may remember; no higher in purpose, but more lavish in material—larger and improved with special Family Pages, Boys' Pages, Girls' Pages, and a constant supply of serials and shorter stories.

The editorial page of information, comment, science and events will keep any man well informed, while the Family Page helps on home improvements and ideas, and both boys and girls have special pages for themselves.

You do the family a good turn when The Youth's Companion "as it is today" is sent to the home. Fifty-two issues a year—not twelve. More reading than is found in any monthly magazine at any price.

You may not know The Companion as it is today. Let us send you the Announcement for 1914, with sample copies containing the opening chapters of A. S. Pier's fine story of St. Timothy's School—"His Father's Son."

New subscribers who send $2.00 for the fifty-two issues of 1914 will receive free the remaining issues of 1913, and a copy of The Companion Practical Home Calendar in addition.

Three Lakes News and This and That

Miss Parete departed for Antigo on Monday.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Youkosky, a girl. Mother and child are doing nicely.

John Malug of Manawa was here
to pay his wife, formerly Eva Moore
a visit.

Dr. Therpe of Eagle River was a professional caller at Three Lakes on Monday.

Joe and John Godlewski departed for camp on Monday, all in good trip for a winter's work.

Mr. Ford of the Beaver Lodge is here getting victims. He is a worker and generally lands new men
bers.

The latest report about John Gorski says that he is on the mend, but will, however be laid up for some weeks.

We hope none of our farmers were caught with their potatoes and garden truck still in the field. I now look like a case of "freeze-up."

Henry Lavendosky is back from Neopit and all reports are true the wedding bells will soon ring a gain. Its said, it'll be a Three Lakes girl.

Miss Victoria Roderick of Eagle River attended the Dillies-Christy wedding and dance on Monday. She is well known here among the young folks.

Miss Marie Lavery and Miss Fanny Erickson spent a few days at the Aldrich home and they could interest you if the told you all a bout their outing.

John Ziemeleński and daughter were removed to the Antigo hospital last week, both being afflicted with a fever, but at this writing we are pleased to note that they are reported to be on the gain.

The real window decorator has arrived. Monday night he did his work in real earnest, decorating every window in town. It was the coldest night thus far and a real snow storm accompanied the cold spell.

Editor Manfee of Eagle River drifted into town on Monday, and judging by the manner in which he made a B line for the Lucy Hotel, he came down for a "square" and after begging a good "Ashland Favorite" from us he vanished like a snow ball in July. We do not know if Eagle River has any brass works—but we do know they have some good material up that way. However, Bro. Manfee, come again whenever you can't stay any longer than your last visit.

WANTS GOOD ROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell came to Three Lakes, via auto on Sunday.
Mr. Lowell came to inspect our district schools and Mrs. Lowell is accompanying him on a pleasure vacation. They enjoyed their outing very much until the snow storm and cold weather overtook them. At present they are paying their Three Lakes friends a call, and passing their time away visiting, and a "kinder" waiting to see how soon they can get their auto home—with out taking chances of freezing the wheels into some of the mud holes—which, Mr. Lowell says, are numerous between Three Lakes and the county seat. Mr. Lowell informed us that he is now ready to help boost for a good road between Three Lakes and the county seat and thinks about $6000 would do some good work on this road.

MUST PAY TAXES ON ITS PROPERTY

Holdings Of Wisconsin Valley Improvement Company Assessable

Madison, Wisconsin.

Frank Kennedy, (Town Clerk.)

Dear Sir:—

Enclosed herewith we hand you copy of assessment of the property of the Wisconsin Valley Improvement Company and the distribution thereof among the several towns in which any part of the same is located. This property extends in to several assessment districts in Forest, Lincoln, Oneida and Vilas counties and therefore is taxable under Sections 1037a to 1037g of the statutes, pages 12 to 15 of Tax Laws.

Section 1037a provides that assessments made pursuant thereto shall cover "the property, rights and franchises (of the company), with all real estate used in such business and necessary to the prosecution thereof." This includes the dams embankments and other improvement on the river proper and the lands which were acquired and are reasonably necessary for flowage purposes at the high water stage, together with sufficient space on either side for patrol and reasonable protection of the embankments. Property owned by the company which is neither used nor reasonably necessary for its use as a river improvement company is subject to assessment by the local assessor the same as other property.

It is impossible at this distance to fix the precise boundary of the property covered by our assessment in each description, but where the same question has arisen relating to steam and street railways the courts have held that the statute should be liberally construed in favor of the company. Where, as often happens, the company is compelled to purchase an entire description to secure the part thereof necessary for use in connection with the improvement, it is considered that the entire amount may be treated as covered by the assessment of the utility unless the fraction not used is substantial and is plainly not required for the operation of the company. In other words, small parcels of descriptions which the company was compelled to acquire but does not or cannot be used in connection with the improvement, may properly be treated as covered by the assessment of the utility company. If any property of the character last mentioned owned by the Wisconsin Valley Improvement Company was assessed by the local assessors the same should be struck en from the roll as covered by this assessment.

Very truly yours,

WISCONSIN TAX COMMISSION.

A. J. Myrland, Secretary.

Madison, Wisconsin, Oct. 16, 1913.

OFFICE OF WISCONSIN TAX COMMISSION

In the Matter of the Assessment of the Property of the Wisconsin Valley Improvement Company for the Year 1913.

It appearing to the satisfaction of the Wisconsin Tax Commission that the property of the Wisconsin Valley Improvement Company is subject to assessment under sections 1037a to 1037g of the statutes and that the assessors of the several districts in which said property or some part thereof is located have not assessed the same for the year 1913, the said Tax Commission hereby certifies and returns that in compliance with section 1037a of the statutes it has assessed the property and franchises
of the Wisconsin Valley Improvement Company together with all rights and privileges appurtenant thereto in the sum of $250,000 and has distributed the same among the assessment districts into which the property of said company or any part thereof extends as shown on the following schedule:

MARRIED

John Dillies of Watersmeet, Mich.
and Miss Gertrude Christy of this place were married on Monday morning Oct. 20, at 11 a. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Justice Neu officiating. A large number of outside relatives and friends were present as well as a large number of home people. In the evening Mr. Dillies arranged for a free public dance with Antigo music which took place at the Woodman hall and was well attended and every one present enjoyed a most enjoyable time. We extend our hand of congratulation to the newly wedded and wish them a happy rosy pathway of married life.

MORE TEACHERS FOR THE DAKOTAS

Today's mail brings us the following from Ex-State Superintendent,
M. M. Ramer, of South Dakota:
"We are having a wild call for teachers. We trust that you people are still on the hunt and that there may be a noise out of Wisconsin like the rush of many teachers this way."

The Grand Rapids School Supply Co.
as you know, is assisting Mr. Ram-er in placing teachers. We have sent him a large number but must have many more.

Please tell your teachers to write us at once. We can find places for every one.

Do the Small Thing at Hand.

There are people who would do great acts; but because they wait for great opportunities life passes, and the acts of love are not done at all.
Opportunities for doing greatly sedum occur: life is made up of in-finitesimals. If you compute the sum of happiness in any given day you will find that it was composed of small attentions, kind looks, which made the heart swell, and stirred into health that sour, rancid film of misanthropy which is apt to coagulate on the stream of our inward life, as surely as we live in heart apart from our fellow creatures.—F. W. Robertson.

Epitaph.

A peculiarly appropriate inscription
on the tomb of a captain in the cemetery of Montparnasse reads: "Carry arms! Present arms! In place!
Rest!"

Brainless.

"Yes, Miss Sharply, I assure you," said the uninteresting young man who was trying to shake, "the robber presented a revolver at my head and declared he'd blow out my brains if I didn't yield." "Oh," replied she, "why didn't you yield?"

The yearly report from the Chief of the Fire Department was read and ordered placed on file.

A petition, asking for the installing of an electric street light at the corner of Spruce and Balsam street on the west side and signed by Dr. J. T. Elliott and others, was read.

Moved by Ald. Pecor seconded by Ald. Leadbetter that said petition be referred to the Board of Public Works with authority to have said light installed if they so see fit. Carried, all voting aye.

Report from the City Attorney or the petition to have a new cemetery deed issued to Edward Carlson in place of the originally issued one which had been destroyed by fire was as follows:

I recommend that the above petition be granted. The receipt shows that the purchase price of that lot was paid and that there is a notation on the back of the receipt made by W. W. Carr, then City Clerk showing that the original deed was given Nov. 12, 1909.

(Signed.) HARRY L. REEVEY, City Attorney.

Moved by Ald. Crosby seconded by Ald. H. Roepcke that the report be accepted and a new deed issued. Carried.

The following Ordinance was offered by Ald. H. Roepcke:

Ordinance

The Common Council of the City of Rhinelander do ordain as follows: It shall be unlawful for any person to mark or disfigure with chalk, paint, crayon or other similar substance any of the sidewalks in the city of Rhinelander for the purpose of advertising.

Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not less than $1.00 nor more than $10.00.

Moved by Ald. Leadbetter seconded by Ald. Crosby that the said Ordinance be deferred and ordered published and will come up for final consideration and passage at the next meeting of the Council. Carried.

REARDON'S WHITE PINE COUGH BALSAM

Twenty-six years ago we perfected a cough remedy and called it Reardon's White Pine Cough Balsam. So great was its success that many druggists are selling imitations of it.

The public can protect itself against these imitations by looking for the name J. J. REARDON on the label. All others are imitations and not genuine.

FISH IN BIG DEAL

Elcho Man Buys 4,000 Acres in Langlade County

A real estate deal, which involves the transfer of 4,000 acres of the finest land in Langlade county, has been closed between the heirs of J. S. Van Nortwick, grantors and Chas. W. Fish, grantee. The purchase price is said to be $59,000.
The timber is so situated that most of it can be logged without the expense of building a railroad. A conservative estimate places the timber on the lands at 20,000,000 feet.
Nearly all of the timber is hardwood and after it is removed the land is well adapted for farming purposes. The deal also includes the Sherry mill site at Koepenick.
This will insure for Mr. Fish fully fifteen years more cutting and he will soon begin logging operations on a larger scale than ever. The timber will all be shipped to the Elcho mill.

To many of our readers the streets of Eagle River are almost as familiar as those of our own town, and we are naturally interested to read of happenings there. The following report from a well-known and respected resident will be helpful to numbers of men and women here in Rhinelander.

James Oberholtzer, Eagle River,
Wis., says: "Five or six years ago,
my limbs began to swell and doctors told me that my kidneys were badly disordered. I was hardly able to get about and although I took medicine faithfully, I did not improve.
When almost about to give up in despair, I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and did. In a short time I was cured and since have enjoyed good health."

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

The following resolution was read:
Whereas, the legislative committee appointed to investigate the State Forest Reserve is about to enter upon its work, and it is absolutely necessary that the interests of this county be represented and protected before said committee:

Resolved, by the County Board of Oneida County, that a committee of the chairman of this Board and two other members thereof to be appointed by the County Board be and the same is hereby created for the purpose of representing this county before said investigating committee.

Resolved further, that said committee be and they are hereby authorized and instructed to do any and all acts considered by them necessary or proper to a full presentation to said investigating committee of all facts bearing upon the subject of such investigation in this county; and to that end said committee is hereby authorized, in behalf of said county, to secure and employ such assistance as may be deemed necessary by them to carry out the full spirit and intent of this resolution.

Introduced by Supervisor Henry Wubker Sr.
Moved by Supervisor Wubker and seconded by Supervisor Scott that the resolution be adopted as read.

Moved by Supervisor Bolger and seconded by Supervisor Gross to amend by authorizing the chairman to appoint said committee.

Amendment lost, original motion carried.

pervisors Brown and Wubker be elected as such committee. Motion carried and Supervisors Brown and Wubker declared elected.

The following report was read:
To the County Board of Oneida County, Wis.: Gentlemen:—Your committee appointed to confer with the sheriff regarding the amount to be paid for the board of prisoners, beg leave to report that they think the sheriff should receive four dollars per week for board of prisoners and recommend that a new contract be made with the sheriff at that price.

Dated this 15th day of September, 1913.
Moved by Supervisor Olson and seconded by Supervisor Bolger that the report be adopted as read, and the proper officers instructed to enter into contract with the sheriff pursuant to said report. Motion carried.

The following resolution was read:
Resolved by the County Board of Supervisors of Oneida County, Wis.,
That a system of accounts be installed in the offices of the county in accordance and compliance with subdivision 13 of section 1957-39 (chapter 523, Laws of 1911 of the Statutes of Wisconsin and that the chairman, clerk and District Attorney be instructed to have said system be installed, and they are further instructed to examine the contract now existing between the county and the Audit and Bond Company of America and if possible, have said system installed without further expense, by said Audit and Bond Company under said contract but if said Audit and Bond Company cannot be compelled or induced to install said system the Chairman and Clerk are instructed to enter into negotiation with the Wisconsin Tax Commission and have said commission install said system, at an expense not to exceed $200.00 and to provide necessary blank books and other material required for such installation.

Dated this 15th day of Sept., 1913.
Moved by Supervisor Brown and seconded by Supervisor Revenue that the resolution be adopted as read. Motion carried.

The following report was read:
To the Honorable, Chairman of the County Board and Members thereof:
Gentlemen,—I, Charles Asmundsen, Sheriff of Oneida County, in compliance with Chapter 625 of the Laws of the State of Wisconsin for 1913, hereby report to you that since your last meeting the following named persons, committed to the county jail of said county at hard labor, have been placed at work for time shown and their earnings distributed in accordance with said law and the instructions of the court.

TO THE PUBLIC

Over one year of successful business in Rhinelander has convinced me that the people of this city fully appreciate having in their midst a store where merchandise of the very highest quality can be purchased at lowest prices. I am not in business for my health neither am I here to get the best of my patrons. I believe in the old adage "Live and let live" and endeavor at all times to give people a square deal.

When I opened my store in this city one year ago last September there were many Doubting Thomases who remarked that another dry goods establishment would not pay here. In fact I even believe that some people felt sorry for me. However, I have long since convinced the public that there is always room for the man who can deliver the goods. No community is too crowded for one of his stamps.

I carry the finest line of dry goods, ladies' and men's footwear and gent's furnishings that can be found anywhere in northern Wisconsin. I keep my stock up-to-date and there is no dust covered goods on my shelves. My prices are as low as to startle the people and more than once has the remark been heard "How can Hart sell so cheaply." With the first class goods and small prices to be found at my store there is utterly no reason for patronizing the mail order houses. The public is cordially invited to visit the store at all times and everyone will be accorded a hearty welcome whether they buy or not. I want to make friends with all the people in Rhinelander and if I do not already know you, let's get acquainted. Remember I am here to stay.

Yours truly,
Adv. D. H. HART.

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY

A large number of new books have just been received at the library and will soon be ready for circulation. A large per cent of them are late fiction, among them being three copies of Gene Stratton-Porter's last book, "Laddie." Two copies of this book will be in the rent collection, leaving one copy for the regular free collection.

"The World I Live In," by Helen Keller, the deaf, dumb and blind girl gives a remarkable exposition of the values of touch, taste and smell where sight and hearing are denied, and of the "imaginary literary sense" that brings in to Miss Keller's world a reality of impressions and a richness and breadth of outlook that seems miraculous. It is a wonderful autobiographical record of her impressions of the world in which she lives and which she finds so full of interest.

CO-OPERATIVE BREEDING.

Does For the Farmer Things He Cannot Do For Himself.

In discussing the economic aspect of the work of co-operative breeding former Assistant Secretary Hays of the department of agriculture said:

"Co-operation in animal breeding, as in other forms of country life co-operation, is a direct aid to the retention of the family farm, making less need for large farms and the consequent landlordism and peasantry of the people. Co-operation in testing and weeding out the ordinary herd used for production, in owning male animals and in improving pure bred families and breeds will enable farmers to delegate to collective management those things which the individual farmer can not well do for himself. If properly organized under suitable co-operative relations with the state and federal departments of agriculture and encouraged by suitable laws, the hereditary values of our breeds of live stock can be improved much more rapidly than if left to individual effort alone."

"There doubtless are at stake some hundreds of millions of possible added profit from the application of scientific knowledge of animal breeding in the United States alone. Private breeders could do even much more than now if the scientific breeding of animals were taken in hand by public agencies co-operating with a selected portion of breeders of each class of live stock. There will be developed a class of technical public workers as superintendents of co-operative breeding enterprises, as well as investigators and teachers, who will so develop the science and practice of breeding that all private breeders will better know how to improve their stock, and will be better able to make profits from supplying superior breeding stock to the farmers who grow live stock products."

Hint For Horsemen.

Never start to lead the horse from his stall till you hold or fasten back the door. Doors have been known to swing to where they were not fastened open, catching the horse's head, the animal pulling back and breaking his neck.—Farm Progress.

Hogs Like Greens.

A hog is a hog, with queer ways and obstinacy, but he will never refuse green food nor fail to pay for it. Have the green food near the yard, so that it will be no trouble to throw it over every day if you do not expect to turn his plow into the field.

Knowledge by the Foot.

Information was formerly measured by the page; it may soon be computed by the foot. One motion picture firm is sending out letters announcing that it has in stock 10,000 feet of architecture, 20,000 feet of science, and 40,000 feet of geography.—The World's Work.

THE ROAD.

I sing you an ode
Of the country road,
The lumpy road
And the bumpy road
That jolts the wagon and spills the load;
Mud to the knees when the rain
comes down;
Filled with ruts when the fields are brown
And the sun is hot and the air is dry.
It's chugged with gravel and packed
with sand,
So built and graded and laid and planned
That it takes a team
And sometimes two
To do the work one horse should do.
It racks the wagons with jolts and jars.
It ruins horses and motorcars,
Keeps back crops from the market place,
Piles up debts on the farmer's place.
The old time road is a plain disgrace.
But the modern road is a different thing.
A worthy theme for the bard to sing—
Put together
For every weather,
Smooth and dustless and good to see
And graded right, as a road should be;
Useful always and muddy never,
A thing of beauty, a joy forever.

NOVEL SUGGESTION TO AVOID MANY ACCIDENTS.

Plan Would Necessitate Slow Speed of Automobiles When Crossing Tracks.

In order to avoid accidents at railroad crossings, which have claimed such a large death toll in recent months, a novel suggestion has been put forth which it appears will at least lessen the danger of a collision between a train and passing carriages or automobiles.

If the highway crossings were divided and offset with sharp turns at the track, as per the sketch accompanying, the crossing could not be made at high speed. Thus the driver would be going slow enough to see a train and stop, if he used his senses at all.

SUGGESTED PLAN FOR CROSSING.

In many instances it is impossible to build overhead or tunnel crossings, and aside from that the expenses are very great. Such a scheme as this would not, of course, eliminate all accidents, but the number would be greatly diminished.

Colonel Cornell of the National Highway Protective society reports that the number of automobilists killed in New York state alone in 1913 up to Aug. 1 has been seventy as compared with fifty-two last year and seventy-two seriously injured as against fifty-eight in 1912. F. A. Brown of Detroit says in the current number of the Spectator that "more than 85 per cent of automobile accidents are due to carelessness."

ERASMUS' THEOLOGY.

The generality of mankind place religion in ceremonies or creeds; a certain appointment of palms or in bodily exercises. If you examine them about spiritual matters you will find them merely carnal.

My work has been to restore a buried literature and recall the divines from their hair splittings to a knowledge of the New Testament.

I do not object generally to the evangelical doctrines, but there is much in Luther's teachings which I dislike. He turns everything which he touches into extravagance.

I care nothing for fame and nothing for posterity. I desire only to go home and to find favor with Christ.

HOME.

Cling to thy home! If there the nearest shed Yield thee a hearth and shelter for thy head.
And some poor plot, with vegetables stored,
Be all that heaven allots thee for thy food—
Unswayed bread and herbs that,
scattered, grow
WED on the river brink or mountain brow,
Yet even this cheerless mansion shall provide More heart's repose than all the world beside.
—Leonidas.

County Board Proceedings

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 19, 1913, 9 A. M.

Board of Supervisors of Oneida County, Wis., met pursuant to adjournment. Meeting called to order by Vice Chairman A. W. Brown.

Roll call the following Supervisors were present: Abbey, Anderson, Baker, Barlow, Bolger, Brown, Dunn, Gross, Rennew, Keeler, Mentink, Murphy, Olson, Schwartz, Scott, Smith, Stefoneck, Ulrich, Wolfram and Wubker.

On motion Board took a recess until Sept. 19, 1913, at 1 P. M.

WM. W. CARR, County Clerk.

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 19, 1913, 1 P. M.

Board of Supervisors of Oneida County, Wis., met pursuant to recess taken. Meeting called to order by Chairman B. N. Moran.

Moved by Supervisor Brown and seconded by Supervisor Schwartz that the Chairman and Clerk be instructed to issue orders for all bills and accounts allowed at this meeting. Motion carried all voting aye.

The following petition was read:

To the Honorable, the County Board of Oneida County:

Petitioner respectfully represents that on July 23rd, 1891, he received from the United States Receiver Receipt No. 21499 on the South east quarter of the north east quarter of section, 11 Town 37 North of Range eight (8) East. That previous to that time the United States had patented said land to the State of Wisconsin under the Swamp land act. The United States is willing to return to petitioner the money he paid on said land and the legislature of 1913 of the State of Wisconsin has passed an act authorizing the proper officers to execute a patent of said land to petitioner upon payment of the amount which he receives from the United States. On May 22, 1897, petitioner gave a quit claim deed of said land to Oneida County and in order to clear the record so that the petitioner can get his money back from the United States it will be necessary for him to get a quit-claim deed from Oneida county. Petitioner therefore prays that the proper officers be instructed to issue to him a quit claim deed of said land.

THEODORE DION.

Dated Sept. 18, 1913.

In presence of H. L. Reers.

Moved by Supervisor Smith and seconded by Supervisor Murphy that the petition be granted and the proper officers instructed to execute a quit claim deed. Motion carried all voting aye.

Moved by Supervisor Brown and seconded by Supervisor Smith that the Chairman, Clerk and District Attorney be instructed to enter into contract with Mr. Luther as required by law. Motion carried all voting aye.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

The rest at noon goes a long way in keeping the team in prime condition for hard and constant work.

Of all animals on the farm sheep want pure water most. They will not drink impure water if they can help it. Why make them do it?

The large pasture is not always best. It does not pay to make a cow walk a long way to find her feed.

Remember that a colt between ages of two and one-half and three years gets twelve new teeth. See that the old ones are properly shed. Have a veterinarian examine your horse's mouth once a year.

It is a good time to fatten old and faulty ewes before cold weather comes.

The most urgent need of stock this season is plenty of pure water, and in many parts of the country this is one of the most difficult things to obtain.

In rams of every breed. I do not believe in selecting an extremely large ram nor those that are weak in one point and strong in another.

Study the breeding ewes and select a ram that will have a tendency to correct any weaknesses or defects that they possess. In the purchase of the ram great care should be exercised as to what his appearance would be when in a normal condition, for it is unsafe to rely upon the form or appearance of sheep when these have been created by high and unnatural feeding or external applications. It is more than likely that their progeny will be injured rather than made better by such methods.

While the selection of the ram is of great importance, yet I do not believe he represents as large a factor in the improvement of a flock of sheep as many writers would have us believe, especially when the flock is well bred and the ewes nearly as good in quality as the pure bred rams that are used to continue the work of further improvement.

HORSESHOEING SCHOOL.

Cornell University to Give Instruction in Practical Farriery.

It has been announced that beginning next winter instruction in horse shoeing will be given in connection with the veterinary department at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

This will be the first school of its kind to be established in America. In most all countries of Europe the horse shoeer, before being permitted to engage in business, must give some time to the study of anatomy of the foot and limb so that in his practice the horse may be better safeguarded against inferior practice and knowledge of foot structure and assurance given the owner that his animal is being shod by a fully qualified man.

The school to be opened at Cornell will be under the direction of the head of the veterinary department, the assistant being a graduate shoeer of the German schools. At first only residents of New York state will be asked to make application for admission to the course of studies, which will include anatomy, locomotion, conformation, the treatment by shoeing of diseased hoof condition, etc.

The importance of this movement will appeal to every horse owner. This school at Cornell should stimulate efforts along the line of placing the shoeing of horses upon a higher plane than it now occupies.

FLOCK IMPROVEMENT.

None but Vigorous Ewes Should Be Used For Breeding.

Breeding ewes that are in any way diseased should not be kept in the breeding flock, for their progeny are apt to inherit such disease and transmit it to their progeny, says W. M. Kelly in the Rural New Yorker. There is plenty of difficulty with disease in a flock of sheep without inviting and fostering the very elements that will destroy the results of systematic selection. None but the best and most vigorous individuals that are free from all hereditary diseases should be selected for breeding purposes if we aim to build up a good uniform and profitable flock.

Great regard should be paid to the size and general contour of the ram that is selected to head the flock. His structure should be firm and massive, with a broad and capacious breast, without a disproportionate length of legs, well formed and fully developed quarters, especially the hind quarters. His loin should be stout and well knit, his features bold and masculine. A firm, muscular neck, with a bold, courageous eye, is indicative of spirit and vigor. The head should be long, but rather small and finely molded. These appearances denote excellent qualities
